Presentation of The New Explorer 2XS

Introduction

The ultimate combination of functionality, quality and design. Just for two. Unique, novel, and innovative.

The campervans which we have been offering until recently, have four travel seats and two, three or four berths, but they have never been designed without a passenger seat. Today, we are adding a unique vehicle to the range manufactured by our company. It is the Globe-Traveller Explorer 2XS, a campervan for two, with two berths and just two travel seats. It is exceptional for several reasons.

Exceptional in Many Ways

Explorer 2XS is only 599 cm long and 280 cm high.

Our intention was to provide as much inside space as possible. It was quite a challenge with such a small vehicle, so we opted for a layout with a so-called French bed, which is exactly what you find today in all X and XS models. The bathroom and the bed are in the rear part of the vehicle. We replaced the passenger bench with a seat for one.

We wanted the van not only to be short and low, but also to be usable all year round, even in winter at temperatures below 0°C. Therefore, the Globe-Traveller Explorer 2XS has a double floor, like all our motorhomes. The distance between the floors is 16 cm, and it provides sufficient space not only for the grey water deposit with a drain valve, but also for all the water system fittings. It is also where the ducts for the warm air from the Truma Combi heater are routed.

Why Explorer Series?

The starting point for this vehicle was our Explorer line, and we have a good reason for it. It offers the largest storage space, due to its many cupboards and closets inside the vehicle, while at the same time providing a spacious boot. The new camper-van retains the best features of our Globe-Traveller range, including best quality materials and components.

This is our newest offer for people who travel in pairs or alone.

What's New?
